

2019 East African Diploma in Tropical Medicine & Hygiene

20 SCHOLARSHIPS FOR AFRICAN DOCTORS

The East African DTM&H is a 3-month full-time course in evidenced-based medicine and international health. It is designed for postgraduate doctors planning a career in clinical research and practice in Africa. It is taught by over 150 staff from the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine (LSHTM) and partner institutions. A professional diploma is awarded by LSHTM following course work and a final examination.

This year's course runs from Monday 26th August to Friday 22nd November. The first six weeks are based at Kilimanjaro Christian Medical University College in Moshi, Tanzania, and the second six weeks at Makerere University in Kampala, Uganda. There is a one-week break for half term.

The course has 60 places for fee-paying doctors from around the World and 20 scholarships for graduates of African medical schools. The African scholarships are valued at £8000 and cover all course fees and accommodation. Scholars need to find their own living expenses (~£10 per day) plus travel to and from Moshi/Kampala. There is a non-refundable registration fee of £200.

Applications are open to doctors from all branches of medicine. Scholarships will be awarded to graduates of African medical schools with a maximum of 10-years postgraduate experience. The East African DTM&H consistently receives outstanding feedback and is heavily oversubscribed. Details of the course and the online application process can be found at:
